

Editorial for Summer Edition of the SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA 2015

Dear readers and friends,

let me introduce the second issue of the third volume of SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA, an international scientific online journal for the study of legal issues in the interdisciplinary context.

The journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA is issued under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, Slovakia, and it thematically focuses on social relevant interdisciplinary relations on the issues of public law and private law at the national, transnational and international levels, represented first of all by following branches of law – legal history, theory of law, roman law, canon law, constitutional law, human rights & fundamental freedoms, international law, European law, civil law, economic law & trade law, labour law, social security law, administrative law, environmental law, financial law, intellectual property law, criminal law and criminology, connected to the key areas of social science disciplines in the broadest understanding, those represent above all international relations, public policy, public administration, psychology, sociology, demography, management and marketing, international economic relations, world economy, transnational economies and national economies.

The journal is issued in an electronic on-line version four times a year, regularly on March 31st, June 30th, September 30th and December 31st, and it offers a platform for publication of contributions in the form of separate papers and scientific studies as well as scientific studies in cycles, essays on current social topics or events, reviews on publications related to the main orientation of the journal and also information or reports connected with the inherent mission of the journal. At the end of every entire volume the journal's editorial office releases in electronic on-line version in the English language prepared abstract proceedings SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA: ABSTRACT PROCEEDINGS summarizing the all individual contributions published in the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA in the corresponding volume.

The journal accepts and publishes exclusively only original, hitherto unpublished contributions in the Slovak language, Czech language, English language, German language, Russian language, French language, Spanish language, Polish language, Serbian language, Slovenian language, Japanese language, Persian language Dari and by mutual agreement in relation to current possibilities of the editorial office also in other world languages.

The website of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers the reading public information in the common graphical user interface as well as in the blind-friendly interface designed for visually handicapped readers, both parallel in the Slovak, English as well as German languages. In all those languages the journal's editorial office provides also feedback communication through its own e-mail address. At the same time the website of the journal offers readers due to the use of dynamic responsive web design accession and browsing by using any equipment that allows transmission of information via the global Internet network.

The current, second issue of the third volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers a total of ten separate scientific studies and papers as well as one information on preparing an international scientific conference in four different languages – in the English, German, Czech, and Slovak languages. Within the section “Studies” the first study offers readers on the basis of a detailed comparative analysis a view of legal aspects of the system of criminal penalties according to the current legislation of the Russian Federation, in comparison to the legislations of the European Union countries. The second study presents very broadly, systematically, and clearly the questions of the employment termination from the point of view of good morals. The following study analyzes the key results resulting from research connected to the education of the local self-government officials in the Czech Republic. The fourth study accurately analyzes and on basis of the current Slovak legislation explains the fundamental questions of the transposition of requirements of the right to assemble in the legislation of the administrative law in the Slovak Republic. The next study concentrates on explaining and clarifying the positive achievements achieved by the United Nations Security Council during the Slovak presidency in this international body. The sixth study analyzes in detail, streamlines, and clarifies the issues related to the female unemployment as well as its main differences based on comparison of two European capitals – Vienna and Bratislava. The following study offers readers very interesting facts in the area of politics of health and safety at work resulting from a scientific research recently realized in the Slovak companies. In order further scientific paper presents qualifying and clarifying the key definitions and aspects of questions of the internal personnel audit. The ninth scientific paper is devoted to very broadly communicated issues of multiculturalism in internal communication, with the main accent laid on the communication tools. The last study very precisely analyzes and deeply evaluates the websites' accessibility of the central public administration bodies in the Trenčín region from the view of applying the skip navigation mechanism. Moreover, the section "Information" offers invitation as well as main information about preparing the international scientific conference XII. Luby Law Days – Dies Luby Iurisprudentiae organized under the auspices of the Štefan Luby Foundation and the Faculty of Law, Trnava University in Trnava, Slovakia, this year on the topic "Damages as a Remedy in Private Law".

On the occasion of launching the second issue of the third volume of the journal I would be delighted to sincerely thank all contributors who contribute actively in it and share with the readers their knowledge, experience or extraordinary views on legal issues in their broadest social context as well as the top management of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, all friends, colleagues, employees of the Faculty of Law as well as rector's administration at the Trnava University in Trnava for their support and suggestive advices and, finally, also members of journal's editorial board.

I believe that the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA will provide a stimulating and inspirational platform for communication both on the professional level and the level of the civic society, as well as for scientific and society-wide beneficial solutions to current legal issues in context of their broadest interdisciplinary social relations, in like manner at national, regional and international levels.

On behalf of the entire editorial board and editorial office of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA

Yours faithfully,

Jana Koprlová,

editor in chief
