

Editorial for Winter Edition of the SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA 2015

Dear readers and friends,

let me introduce the fourth issue of the third volume of SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA, an international scientific online journal for the study of legal issues in the interdisciplinary context.

The journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA is issued under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, Slovakia, and it thematically focuses on social relevant interdisciplinary relations on the issues of public law and private law at the national, transnational and international levels, represented first of all by following branches of law – legal history, theory of law, roman law, canon law, constitutional law, human rights & fundamental freedoms, international law, European law, civil law, economic law & trade law, labour law, social security law, administrative law, environmental law, financial law, intellectual property law, criminal law and criminology, connected to the key areas of social science disciplines in the broadest understanding, those represent above all international relations, public policy, public administration, psychology, sociology, demography, management and marketing, international economic relations, world economy, transnational economies and national economies.

The journal is issued in an electronic on-line version four times a year, regularly on March 31st, June 30th, September 30th and December 31st, and it offers a platform for publication of contributions in the form of separate papers and scientific studies as well as scientific studies in cycles, essays on current social topics or events, reviews on publications related to the main orientation of the journal and also information or reports connected with the inherent mission of the journal.

The journal accepts and publishes exclusively only original, hitherto unpublished contributions in the Slovak language, Czech language, English language, German language, Russian language, French language, Spanish language, Polish language, Serbian language, Slovenian language, Japanese language, Persian language Dari and by mutual agreement in relation to current possibilities of the editorial office also in other world languages.

The website of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers the reading public information in the common graphical user interface as well as in the blind-friendly interface designed for visually handicapped readers, both parallel in the Slovak, English as well as German languages. In all those languages the journal's editorial office provides also feedback communication through its own e-mail address. At the same time the website of the journal offers readers due to the use of dynamic responsive web design accession and browsing by using any equipment that allows transmission of information via the global Internet network.

The current, fourth issue of the third volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers a total of five separate scientific studies, two essays on very important social topics as well as two reviews of recently published scientific publications in three different languages – in the English, Czech, and Slovak languages. Within the section “Studies”, the first study presents very broadly, systematically, and clearly the questions of the right of public concerned to a favourable environment in the Slovak Republic. The second study offers readers analyzing, explaining, and clarifying the key pillars of the work of the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly and the relevant case-law of the European Court of Human Rights concerning the issue of intercountry adoption. The following study very carefully clarifies, analyzes, and evaluates the current state and key results related to the questions of current typology of municipalities as basis for marketing of towns. The fourth study accurately analyzes and on the basis of research realized in the territory of the Slovak Republic clarifies the performance requirements laid on work actions and preparation of educational activities. The final study very precisely analyzes and deeply evaluates the websites' accessibility of the central public administration bodies in the Žilina region from the view of applying the skip navigation mechanism. The section “Essays” offers two very inspiring and current scientific papers – one on the questions of direction of current social research and one on the questions of so-called atypical workplaces seen from the view of personal marketing. Moreover, the section “Reviews” offers readers systematic and detailed reviews of two recently published scientific publications – of the collective monograph “Legal-Historical Reality of Social Doctrine in the 20th Century” as well as of the scientific dictionary “Dictionary of Diplomacy”.

On the occasion of launching the fourth issue of the third volume of the journal I would be delighted to sincerely thank all contributors who contribute actively in it and share with the readers their knowledge, experience or extraordinary views on legal issues in their broadest social context as well as the top management of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, all friends, colleagues, employees of the Faculty of Law as well as rector's administration at the Trnava University in Trnava for their support and suggestive advices and, finally, also members of journal's editorial board.

I believe that the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA will provide a stimulating and inspirational platform for communication both on the professional level and the level of the civic society, as well as for scientific and society-wide beneficial solutions to current legal issues in context of their broadest interdisciplinary social relations, in like manner at national, regional and international levels.

On behalf of the entire editorial board and editorial office of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA

Yours faithfully,

Jana Koprlová
