

Editorial for Winter Edition of the SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA 2016

Dear readers and friends,

let me introduce the fourth issue of the fourth volume of SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA, an international scientific online journal for the study of legal issues in the interdisciplinary context.

The journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA is issued under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, Slovakia, and it thematically focuses on social relevant interdisciplinary relations on the issues of public law and private law at the national, transnational and international levels, represented first of all by following branches of law – legal history, theory of law, roman law, canon law, constitutional law, human rights & fundamental freedoms, international law, European law, civil law, economic law & trade law, labour law, social security law, administrative law, environmental law, financial law, intellectual property law, criminal law, and criminology, connected to the key areas of social science disciplines in the broadest understanding, those represent above all international relations, public policy, public administration, psychology, sociology, demography, management and marketing, international economic relations, world economy, transnational economies, and national economies.

The journal is issued in an electronic on-line version four times a year, regularly on March 31st, June 30th, September 30th, and December 31st, and it offers a platform for publication of contributions in the form of separate papers and scientific studies as well as scientific studies in cycles, essays on current social topics or events, reviews on publications related to the main orientation of the journal, and also information or reports connected with the inherent mission of the journal.

The journal accepts and publishes exclusively only original, hitherto unpublished contributions in the Slovak language, Czech language, English language, German language, Russian language, French language, Spanish language, Polish language, Serbian language, Slovenian language, Chinese language, Japanese language, Persian language Dari, and by mutual agreement in relation to current possibilities of the editorial office also in other world languages.

The website of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers the reading public information in the common graphical user interface as well as in the blind-friendly interface designed for visually handicapped readers, both parallel in the Slovak, English as well as German languages. In all those languages the journal's editorial office provides also feedback communication through its own e-mail address. At the same time the website of the journal offers readers due to the use of dynamic responsive web design accession and browsing by using any equipment that allows transmission of information via the global Internet network.

The current, fourth issue of the fourth volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers a total of eight separate scientific studies as well as one review of notable scientific publication in three different languages – in the English, Czech, and Slovak languages. Within the section “Studies” the first study offers readers very broadly, systematically, and in detail the questions of discrimination in pre-contractual relations and its solving within the labour law according to the current European Court of Justice case law. The following study thoroughly analyses, streamlines, and exemplarily explains the issues of the vicarious liability under the paragraph 2914 of the new Czech Civil Code. The third study accurately analyses and simultaneously clarifies fundamental questions related to the process of enhancing the rights of beneficiaries, with regard to the hardware and software progress of the Czech social security administration. The following study concentrates on a very detailed systematic clarification as well as in-depth analysis of the questions of current legal arrangement of the Arctic in the context of relevant rules of international public law. The fifth study analyses in detail, streamlines, and clarifies the protection function of the Slovak labour law in the collective labour law relations from the view of relevant labour law and criminal law aspects of a strike. The following study offers readers qualifying and clarifying the key questions of legislation in the field of violence on workplace according to the current Spanish legal order, with the special accent laid on the issue of mobbing. The seventh study is devoted to socially determining questions of the role and place of the police in society and in the State, interpreted from the view of actual key legal and interdisciplinary contexts. The last study offers basic legislative facts relating to the criminal liability connected with applying the Facebook reaction buttons inducing hate speech according to the legal order of the Slovak Republic. The section “Reviews”, placed at the end, offers readers review of a new unique, in the English language written collective scientific monograph aimed at so-called euro crimes in the legal systems of the Czech Republic and of the Slovak Republic.

In relation to the release of the fourth issue of the fourth volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA we are pleased to inform all its readers, contributors as well as fans that the journal has been successfully registered in the international scientific databases ERIH PLUS and IndexCopernicus International and applied for registration in other international scientific databases. On the occasion of launching the fourth issue of the fourth volume of the journal I would be delighted to sincerely thank all contributors who contribute actively in it and share with the readers their knowledge, experience or extraordinary views on legal issues in their broadest social context as well as the top management of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, all friends, colleagues, employees of the Faculty of Law as well as rector's administration at the Trnava University in Trnava for their support and suggestive advices and, finally, also members of journal's editorial board and editorial team.

I believe that the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA will provide a stimulating and inspirational platform for communication both on the professional level and the level of the civic society, as well as for scientific and society-wide beneficial solutions to current legal issues in context of their broadest interdisciplinary social relations, in like manner at national, regional, and international levels.

On behalf of the entire editorial board and editorial office of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA

Yours faithfully,

Jana Koprlová
