

Editorial for Summer Edition of the SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA 2023

Dear readers and friends,

let me introduce the second issue of the eleventh volume of SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA, an international scientific online journal for the study of legal issues in the interdisciplinary context.

The journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA is issued under the auspices of the Faculty of Law of the Trnava University in Trnava, Slovakia, and it thematically focuses mainly on socially relevant interdisciplinary relations connected with issues of public law and private law at the national, transnational and international levels, while accepting and publishing exclusively original, hitherto unpublished contributions. Its aim is to provide a stimulating and inspirational platform for scientific and society-wide beneficial solutions to current legal issues and their communication in the context of their broadest interdisciplinary social relations, in like manner at the national, regional and international levels.

The journal is issued in an electronic on-line version four times a year, regularly on March 31st, June 30th, September 30th and December 31st, and it offers a platform for publication of contributions in the form of separate papers and scientific studies as well as scientific studies in cycles, essays on current social topics or events, reviews on publications related to the main orientation of the journal and also information or reports connected with the inherent mission of the journal.

The website of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers the reading public information in the common graphical user interface as well as in the blind-friendly interface designed for visually handicapped readers, both parallel in the Slovak as well as English languages. In both languages the journal's editorial office provides also feedback communication through its own e-mail address. At the same time, the website of the journal offers readers due to the use of dynamic responsive web design accession and browsing by using any equipment that allows transmission of information via the global Internet network.

The current, second issue of the eleventh volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA offers a total of four separate scientific studies written in three different languages – in the English, Czech and Slovak languages. The very first study offers readers a very comprehensive and detailed comparative view of the key and extremely topical issues of legal regulation of unfair contract terms in consumer contracts within the framework of the legislation in force in various countries of the Central and Eastern Europe. The following study thoroughly analyses, clarifies and exemplarily explains the issue of the Slovak labour-law perspective on the issue of an employee's absence from the workplace due to the medical or diagnostic examination of his or her child. The third study concentrates on a very detailed systematic clarification as well as in-depth analysis and comprehensive synthesis of the benefits and impacts of the adoption of the October Diploma in 1860 and the Provisional Judicial Rules of the Judex-curial Conference in 1861 on the further constitutional and legal development of Hungary in the 19th Century. The final study presents systematic and thorough qualifying and clarifying of the key questions related to labour-law regulation of the issue of occupational accidents and occupational diseases as obstacles to work on the part of the employee from the point of view of the Czech legal system.

In relation to the release of the second issue of the eleventh volume of the journal SOCIETAS ET IURISPRUDENTIA we are pleased to inform all its readers, contributors as well as fans that the journal has been registered in the international scientific databases Crossref, ERIH PLUS and Index Copernicus International and applied for registration in other international scientific databases.
